

EVENT SUMMARY

Digital transformation and the rise of the millennial bring disruptions to every business and industry. It certainly has impact in the ways of developing people in your organisation. As HR and L&D professionals, how can you transform and reinvent training to align with business results and outcome? How would you create learning and development solution that is appealing to the new generation?

During the event, our expert guest speakers have shedded lights on the followings:

- How to develop and engage the millennial generation for business to be successful
- How to make training effective in the digital transformation age
- The fast track talent development – 6 steps to success

Event Date : 26th October, 2018

Guest Speakers

Ms. Maggie Chan | Ms. Joanne Ip | Mr. Gary Lam | Ms. Cindy Wong | Mr. Stanley Chiu

Senior HR practitioners, L&D professionals, Senior Business Leaders and Leadership Consultants had a delightful afternoon on 26th October 2018 as they gathered together at the HKGCC for an alumni event organized by MDS. Jonathan Wong, Director and Principal Consultant of MDS kicked off the event with an opening remark on how the digital landscape has brought disruptions to every business and industry and its impact on talent development. A special thanks to our speakers from Microsoft Hong Kong, ImagineX Group, AIA International, MDS Associates for sharing their best practices and thoughts on training, talent development, how to drive transformation and engage the millennial generation in the digital age. The highlight of the event came when Jonathan led our expert guest speakers to actively participate in a panel discussion on challenges and strategies on empowering talents in the digital transformation age and opened the floor to questions. The gathering officially came to end with Robin Ball, Managing Director of MDS giving thanks to the guest speakers and alumni for supporting the event and making it memorable.

MDS maintains major offices in Hong Kong and Beijing, branch offices in Shanghai, Taipei and Singapore and a great team of Associate Trainers and Coaches in more than a dozen cities in Greater China and the AP Region.